SCOTT AND FUNSTON IN EL PASO, TEX.

IN DARK AS TO COMING OF GENERAL OBREGON.

SEC. BAKER INSTRUCTS BORDER IS DISTURBED BY REPORTS FROM DURANGO.

EL PASO, TEX., April 27.—The conference between Generals Scott, Funston and Obregon will take place at El Paso or at Juarez. It was definitely announced at departmental headquarters today.

Major General Scott and Funston are endeavoring today to obtain information regarding the movement of General Alvar Obregon, Carranza's minister of war, so they may be guided accordingly in leaving for their border conference with him.

It is not known definitely whether the Mexican general is coming to Piedras Negras or Juarez, although Obregon's reported movements indicate that he is en route to Juarez.

The American military leaders are ready to depart as soon as the place for the conference is known.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Secretary Baker today telegraphed General Scott and Funston to proceed from San Antonio to El Paso for the conference with General Obregon.

Consul Sullivan at Saltillo, wired that General Obregon had left Juarez last night for Juarez.

Officials expect General Obregon will reach Juarez tonight. General Scott and General Funston are expected to reach El Paso tomorrow when the first conference may be held.

Besides delaying answer to General Carranza's suggestion for withdrawal of the American expedition until after the Scott-Obregon conference the government is also delaying sending Henry P. Fletcher, the new ambassador to Mexico to join General Carranza until conditions become more settled.

BORDER IS DISTURBED.

Reports from Durango Towns Show Anti-American Sentiment.

EL PASO, TEX., April 27.—Disturbing reports were received here today from many points in northern and central Mexico regarding anti-American feeling on the part of the people. The most serious of these reports referred to towns in Durango and especially to Durango City, where the Americans, still living there, have been repeatedly warned by United States Consul Coen to leave. As far as can be learned here, there are not more than a dozen Americans still in Durango City, the majority of whom have married into Mexican families and for that reason have so far considered themselves safe.

The present trouble seems to be due in part to the persistent anti-American campaign which has been carried on by the Mexican papers in the state capital. This campaign has increased in violence since the clash at Parral between United States soldiers and Carranza troops.

Americans who have arrived here from Durango and southern Chihuahua say that the Parral incident has been magnified out of all proportion and greatly distorted by Mexican papers, which have described it as a great Mexican victory. The Americans are believed by this paper not only to have been badly beaten, but to have shown cowardice and run away after massacring a number of women and children.

At the same time most of the reports agree that the Carranza and other responsible authorities have done everything in their power to restrain the civilian population, and have shown an earnest desire to avoid an outbreak.

The uncertainty over the whole Mexican situation is believed here to be greatly increasing the dangers of serious friction, but there is a general belief that the coming conference between General Hugh L. Scott and General Obregon will have a quieting effect.

COLUMBUS, N. M., April 27.—Truck men arriving here today told of being ambushed by a roving band of marauders of about 15, attached to no Mexican faction, in a canyon near Satevo, several days ago. The truck men and their soldier guards took a position behind the steel wheels of the car and returned the fire, routing the Mexicans and capturing two of their number, according to the story.

Trial of These Stirrs All Paris

No. 1—Dr. Lombard.

No. 2—Dr. Labord.

Forty-seven persons, some of them very well known and heretofore believed to be patriots, are now on trial in Paris on the charge of having sold "medically unfit" service papers. Among them are Dr. Lombard (No. 1) and Dr. Labord (No. 2). They are accused of having sold these papers at from 20 to 1,000 francs to persons who wanted to shirk military service on the ground of ill health. Drs. Lombard and Labord were said to be the chief instigators. The latter was recently given a medal of honor which he persisted in wearing in the prison dock. Seven women were among the prisoners. They were defended by Mlle. Germaine, well known in Paris as a lawyer.

MINERS MEET THEIR EMPLOYERS FOR A FINAL CONFERENCE

Eight-Hour Day and 20 Per Cent Increase in Pay Demanded.

Both Sides Are Unyielding and Deadlock Expected as Result.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Thirty representatives of the United Mine Workers of America and an equal number of mine operators are here today for a meeting of their joint conference committee and a final vote on the demands of the miners for an eight-hour day, a 20 per cent increase in wages and recognition of the union. Should they fail to break the deadlock over these demands, it is understood the leaders of the miners will prepare a set of resolutions to be presented to the miners' convention in Pottsville, Pa., May 2, when a vote may be taken whether to declare a strike in the anthracite mining district.

Sub-committees of the joint conference committee which discussed the miners' demands here for several weeks, are ready to report to the full membership that they have failed to agree.

Both operators and miners' representatives seemed today to be unyielding on the closed shop issue. Mr. White said there would be no surrender on this point. At the headquarters of the operators, it was stated that they would make no further concessions.

Officers of the Pittsburgh Coal company have an engagement to meet President White here today to endeavor to settle the strike of 24,000 bituminous coal miners who quit the mines of that company to enforce a demand for the 5 per cent increase granted at a conference of soft coal miners and operators here several weeks ago.

NEW FIRE TRUCK IS FOUND SATISFACTORY

One of the triple combination motor trucks that is to go to one of the outlying fire stations in the city was given a test yesterday, and according to Fire Chief John Mack proved satisfactory in every way. The machine was constructed by the Gramm-Bernstein Motor company, who were awarded the contract for motorizing the fire apparatus of the city.

The machine is equipped with a pump, used for the same purpose as a steamer. In addition to this feature the truck is supplied with two other units, a chemical tank and many feet of hose. Another machine of the same kind is being built at the plant. Both of the machines will be placed in stations where there is no steamer.

In the test with three lines of hose connected with the pump, a pressure of 65 pounds was registered at the nozzle of each stream of water. With two lines of hose, the pressure was 85 pounds, and with one, 120 pounds. In case of necessity, four lines of hose can be attached to the pump. With three lines of hose attached 500 gallons of water is thrown each minute.

A number of interesting peculiarities have come to the attention of the board of elections as a result of the primary of last Tuesday, some of them involving new problems which may have to be referred to Secretary of State Charles Q. Hildrebrand for settlement. They concern the election of delegates and alternates to the republican state convention.

The most unusual situation exists in the sixth district, comprising the fifth ward of Lima. W. L. McClain, W. L. Parmenter, Carl Rowlands and James W. Halfhill each received one vote, but according to election authorities all are disqualified because they reside outside of the ward. There was no nominee printed on the ticket, as none filed petitions. Bruce Geach, a democrat, also got a vote, his membership in the opposing party eliminates him.

Now according to the state election laws, any man whose name is written into the ticket in the election must receive eight percent of the total vote cast for that office in order to qualify. For alternate there was no provision made, but Councilman E. L. Naylor received the only vote cast for that job. That is one hundred percent of the total vote cast for the office, however, and the chances are that he will be considered elected by the action of the one man who wrote Naylor's name on the ticket. As there is no delegate he will get to serve in that capacity. Clerk Arthur Morris of the board stated today that he had never before heard of such a case coming up, for one vote elected a candidate, who was not running, to the post of alternate with no delegate selected.

In the ninth district, composed of Anglake and Perry townships and Harrod, twenty-five votes were cast. There was no name printed on the ballot, but of the voters who wrote on the names of candidates, eight voted for James Oaman, who is to qualify thereby.

In the thirteenth district, composed of German and Shawnee townships, four names were written in. C. N. Breese getting two of five. He was elected by the vote of twenty percent. Delegate contests were on in the tenth, comprising Delphos and Marion townships, and in the eleventh, composed of Richland and Jackson townships, Lafayette, Blugton and Beaverdam. ### VETERANS OF 1861-5 ESCORT WAR FLAGS TO FINAL DEPOSIT

Two Thousand Old Soldiers Parade Columbus to Martial Strains.

Lowering Skies Fail to Daunt Aged Boys in Blue.

COLUMBUS, O., April 27.—Their columns headed by white-haired color-bearers carrying battle-scarred flags which they followed into action 50 years ago, 2,000 Ohio Civil war veterans today paraded about Capitol square to the beat of old guard drum corps music and, after impressive ceremonies, deposited the flags, 425 in number, in the new glass case in the rotunda of the state house.

For wears the flags have been in the relic room of the capitol. This room has been abolished.

The early morning rains and skies threatened further downpours did not prevent the veterans from marching for the last time, beneath the colors under which they fought.

Fifty members of the Old Guard Newark appeared in full uniform, their arrival being announced by the music of the drum corps which accompanied them as they marched down High street to the state house grounds.

Because of their tattered condition, the flags were not unfurled. They were wrapped in papers and many had ties about the staff a history of the flags since Civil war days.

Many of the colors have been in the keeping of veterans or their children since the rebellion. A number of these were brought in by old soldiers and will be placed in their proper cases.

"We won't be around to take care of it more than six or eight years, so I thought it ought to be turned in," said D. C. Stone, of Mt. Vernon, who brought the badly torn flag of the 142nd O. V. I. to the state house this morning. The whereabouts of this flag was not known until Mr. Stone appeared with it today. He carried it in the parade around the square.

Adjutant General B. W. Hough presided as chairman of the speech-making in the capitol grounds. Among the speakers were Governor Willis, General J. Warren Keifer, of Springfield, former Governor James E. Campbell, and Colonel W. L. Carty of Columbus.

Three veteran's drum corps appeared in the parade. A salute of 21 guns was fired from the state house grounds by Battery C, O. N. G., Columbus.

GIRL DIES OF POISON

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 27.—Within three hours after she swallowed the contents of a bottle of poison Miss Mildred Richardson, aged 18 years, died at the city hospital today. No cause is assigned of the rash act.

WORKHOUSE TO MAKE CLOTHES

CLEVELAND, O., April 27.—To keep workhouse prisoners busy in winter and to economize on clothes for inmates of city institutions, Welfare Director Beman plans a clothing factory at Warrensville Farm. The prisoners would make overalls suits for the men and dresses for the women. Director of Finance Neal has asked for bids on clothing machinery.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED FOR WHOLE OF IRELAND; REBELLION IS SPREADING

Fighting Still Continues In Dublin, Where Revolutionists Held Important Public Buildings

VERDUN FIGHT RESUMED

Activity On West Front Increasing, Especially In the Vosges, With Heavy Artillery Fire

LONDON, April 27.—Official admission today that there were indications of a spread of the revolutionary movement in Dublin to other parts of Ireland, especially in the west, was accompanied by the proclamation of martial law throughout the island. Hitherto only the city and county of Dublin had been under military rule because of the outbreak.

The statement regarding the indicated spread of the revolutionary movement, in strong contrast with the reassuring statements of yesterday, was made by Premier Asquith in the house of commons today. The Irish situation still presented serious features, the premier admitted.

In Dublin, fighting is still in progress in the streets and the rebels continue to hold important public buildings.

It was announced that in addition to troops already despatched to Ireland, others were being sent and that the government was satisfied that the force assigned a this duty was an adequate one.

Major General Sir John Maxwell, formerly in command of the British forces in Egypt, has gone to Ireland to take the situation in hand. He has been given plenary powers over the whole country and under martial law.

IS HELD FOR MAKING PICTURES OF PANAMA

NEW YORK, April 27.—An agent of the department of justice a United States secret service man and a representative of the neutrality squad of the custom house met the steamship Colon on her arrival today from Cristobal and took into custody one of the passengers said to be a German.

Reports that become current that the mysterious passenger has been in apprehended on suspicion of spying upon the United States fortifications in the canal zone, the authorities declined to discuss.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The German arrested on the steamer Colon at New York today, is detained because an army officer received an anonymous letter saying the man had been taking photographs or making pictures of the Panama canal fortifications. It is unlawful to make such pictures. Department of justice officials say that if the pictures are not found upon him or in his effects he will be released. His name is being withheld.

TO PROBE DAYTON FIRE.

DAYTON, O., April 27.—Deputy Fire Marshal Baker has been ordered by fire marshal's office, Columbus, to return from Cincinnati to this city at once to begin a probe of the fire which last night gutted the National theatre causing a loss of $60,000. The loss is fully covered by insurance. The building is owned by Dickson and Talbot of Indianapolis and leased by Ziegler and Anderson of New York. It is believed the blaze originated on the stage.

LARGE MINES CLOSE.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 27.—Failure to accept the division of a 3 cent increase between the miners and operators has caused the closing of 14 large mines in eastern Ohio and the idleness of 3,000 miners. Pending settlement of the dispute at a joint scale conference in Cleveland, the miners were ordered back to work but they refused.

OHIO ODD FELLOWS CELEBRATE

PORT CLINTON, O., April 27.—More than 300 Odd Fellows of Ottawa county are in session here celebrating the ninety-seventh anniversary of their lodge in the United States. Oak Harbor, Put-in-Bay, Elmore, Lakeside, Marblehead, Genoa, Rocky Ridge and Port Clinton are represented.

A SEARCHING INVESTIGATION INTO THE CAUSE OF THE OUTBREAK AND THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR IT WAS PROMISED THE HOUSE OF COMMONS BY THE PREMIER.

The royal proclamation suspending in Ireland Section 1 of the defence of the realm amendment act of 1915, which gives to a British subject charge with an offense under the act the right to be tried by civil court, was read on the steps of the royal exchange this morning according to historic custom.

The troops in Ireland have been and are being strongly reinforced, Mr. Asquith added, and the government was satisfied the force despatched was adequate to deal with the situation.

Proclamation of martial law throughout Ireland may indicate an extension of disturbances, details of which the rigid British censorship is withholding. Cable despatches yesterday and early today gave the impression that the British authorities had the situation in Ireland well in hand. Martial law, it was said, had been declared only in the city and county of Dublin. A few minor disturbances outside Dublin were reported, but they were described as of small importance.

There are signs of increasing activity along virtually the entire battle front in the west, notably on the southern end of the line down to the Vosges. The great struggle at Verdun is being continued with little diminution in vigor, however, with the German heavy guns almost continually in play.

The only infantry movement in the Verdun region noted in this afternoon's Paris statement was to the north of Fort Vaux, northeast of Verdun, where what is alluded to as "a small attack" was stopped immediately by the French artillery.

ATTACKS GOVT FOR NEGLIGENCE

Viscount Middleton Declares Trouble in Ireland Worse Than Reported.

LONDON, April 26.—Viscount Middleton attacked the government in the house of lords today for failing to take heed of warnings regarding activities of the Sinn Feiners. He asked what the government meant by saying yesterday (Tuesday) that the situation was well in hand. So far as his information went at the time this assurance was given, not only were rebels in possession of a number of prominent parts of Dublin, but no attempt had been made to dislodge them.

Viscount Middleton said he understood telegraphic communication with Dublin was almost entirely interrupted, that the rebels when they seized the postoffice cut the wires and cables to England.

The authorities, he continued, had been aware that large numbers of armed Sinn Feiners had been drilled constantly for some months, that they possessed explosives in considerable quantities and were well previded with money. These things, he declared, had been brought to the notice of the government by influential persons with the urgent request that action be taken.

The present position of Ireland, he asserted in conclusion, was one of the greatest danger.

Vicount Middleton further asserted that Baron Wimbourne, the lord lieutenant of Ireland, went to Belfast on Tuesday, while a large number of officers had been allowed on that day to attend a race meeting near there.

Some of the officers were seized on their return to duty. The vicount was unable to conceive any government so blind as to permit such a state of things to continue.

Lord Lansdowne in reply, said he believed this outrage was doomed to be an ignominious failure, but he was not disposed to minimize the serious inconvenience likely to be occasioned by it. He said that on Monday, April 24, the rebels made a half-hearted attack on Dublin Castle, but the attack was not pressed. They then occupied St. Stephen's Green, held up troops which were returning from the barracks, fired on them from the roofs of buildings, seized the postoffice, city hall, the four courts and the Western road and Amiens road railway stations and telegraphic communication was interrupted. The four courts are the principal courts of justice in Ireland and the two railway stations seized are the main arteries of communication with England.

The rebels, Lord Lansdowne said, were driven from St. Stephen's Green with a certain number of casualties. Yesterday they still occupied certain buildings and houses in Sackville and other streets.

Dealing with the situation today, Lord Lansdowne said the commanding officer reports there was a complete cordon of troops around the center of Dublin on the north side of the river and two more battalions were arriving this afternoon from England. The situation he declared, was undoubtedly well in hand and he had no doubt of the ability of the government to suppress the movement by most drastic methods. Although the situation in the provinces was not wholly satisfactory, the information received was not sufficient to justify grave apprehension. There has been a small rising at Ardee and Louth and a rather more serious one in Swords and Lusk, close to Dublin.

KAISER WOULD AVOID BREAK.

Reply to American Note Will Come Saturday, Probably.

BERLIN, April 27.—(by wireless to the Associated Press from a staff correspondent.)—The Associated Press learns that developments are impending which demonstrate unmistakably the desire of Emperor William to follow a course which will lead Germany and the United States out of the present crisis. The situation is viewed more optimistically here.

Ambassador Gerard is still maintaining silence. Following his latest conference with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, but the Associated Press has been able to obtain information from other sources indicating that the outlook has improved.

The latest indications are that the German reply to the American note may not be delivered until Saturday at the earliest.

It appears from a description of the Sussex disaster contributed by a neutral, the Swiss engineer, Stefany Gennons, a passenger on the Sussex, to the Swiss newspaper Svizzera, that two transports carrying troops left Folkestone for Boulogne at the same time as the Sussex.

It is assumed here that one of these transports may have been the vessel torpedoed by a German submarine.

LONDON, April 27.—German newspapers are now taking a more serious view of the German-American situation.

They say Emperor William is expected to return to Berlin from general headquarters. In the meantime, Americans attempting to leave Germany by way of Switzerland are encountering difficulties. Many of them are held up at Constance, the Baden frontier having been closed since yesterday.

The German-Swiss frontier has been closed since Monday afternoon, even to mails, says a dispatch to the Matin from Berne. Foreigners now in Germany have been informed that none will be allowed to leave the country before 20 days have elapsed, the dispatch adds.

A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. from Amsterdam says: "Vienna newspapers, commenting on President Wilson's note, agree that the situation was never more serious. They contend that neither Germany nor Austria should abandon submarine warfare, and that as far as Austria is concerned, she will not renounce the practice of torpedoing vessels in the Mediterranean."

"Frederick C. Penfield, the American ambassador to Austria-Hungary, had two long conferences with Baron Burian, the foreign minister, during the past week."

The Vorwarts of Berlin is quoted in a Reuters dispatch from Amsterdam as saying the most significant development of the Easter holidays for the people of Berlin was the steadily growing scarcity of meat.

Housewives rushed from shop to shop, Vorwarts says, in order to obtain at least a piece of meat. Those who were able to buy pork, which is sold by the municipality at a relatively cheap price, went home happy, but these were dissatisfied on the part of those who were compelled to buy the meat which sells for three marks a pound, and also among those who went home empty handed.

today as a result of the failure to arrive of Villa prisoners, reported to be on the way to Columbus. It is assumed, however, that most of these are being held at other bases where the military authorities may question them thoroughly. A report reaching here today said that four prisoners held at Casas Grandes were shot several days ago in an attempt to escape, but it could not be confirmed at military headquarters here.

While no new reports were received concerning the movement of Col. Dade's command after its victory over a Villa band at Tomachio several days ago, tactical experts here believed that after a short stop at the Minaca base to obtain supplies, the cavalry command again took up the pursuit of the bandits.

BUSINESS DISTRICT EXTENDS EASTWARD

Central Avenue and North to be Marked by New Building.

A real estate deal closed yesterday in which the ownership of the Boop property at the corner of Central avenue and North street changed hands, marks the invasion of legitimate business into what was once notorious vice district.

Even before the oil boom in the vicinity of Lima the district was well established. Following the oil boom when thousands of persons flocked to this city, the size of the district was increased and the houses continued to run unhindered until five years ago, since when they have at various times been gradually closed.

Mr. Dunn states that on this portion of the property he will erect a two-story brick block with a 50 foot frontage on east North street. The building will be arranged to contain business offices on the first floor and apartments on the second floor.

The consideration which was given as $17,000 shows that there is a marked increase in the value of building sites in the vicinity of the business section of the city. Several other real estate deals pending at the present time indicates that within a short time this district will give way entirely to business blocks of modern design. The deal was engineered by John R. Hooker, local real estate operator.

PREDICTS WINTER WHEAT BELOW TEN-YEAR AVERAGE

Outlook, According to Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. Is For High Prices in Wheat, Should the War Continue in Europe.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27.—It seems fairly well assured, according to a special committee of the United States, of which A. W. Douglas of St. Louis, is chairman, that the winter wheat production this year will be appreciably less than that of 1915 and 1914. In fact, according to this prediction, it will be below the ten-year average of the decade 1906-1915, approximately one-third less than the harvest of 1915, or roughly speaking, around 450,000,000 bushels. The committee declared there was approximately at the time of its survey, April 8 of this year, 20 per cent less acreage standing in wheat than at the same time last year. The question of what the price of wheat will be during the next six months is one which will have a profound effect on the business of the country.

War Keeps Wheat Price Up.

The committee's forecast, at least for the spring and summer, is for comparatively high prices in wheat, since at the time of observation there did not seem to be any likelihood of the crop approaching the yield of last year. This estimate is based on a continuation of European hostilities. Should peace come, however, and the Dardanelles be opened, releasing what is generally thought to be an accumulated surplus of wheat in Russia, there would undoubtedly be a decline in price. What this decline would be, the committee says, can only be a matter of conjecture, but any decline particularly during the harvesting season or afterwards when the wheat is placed on the market, it is pointed out, is bound to have an unfavorable effect on the farmer and in all likelihood induce him to curtail free purchasing on his part.

Another factor in the situation is the large surplus carried over from last year. As a rule, the National Chamber committee says, the farmer who is in a position to hold his wheat will only sell it when it reaches a price in accordance with his ideas. It is the expressed belief that a great majority of the farmers at this time have the ability to carry their grain for quite a time if they so wish. Should it appear, however, with the coming of peace, that the high price of wheat is ended for the time being, it is more than likely that large holdings will be thrown upon the market with the effect of further lowering the price.

General Condition Lower.

The National Chamber authorities declare the condition is lower than for a number of years. This is attributed to winter killing, the ravages of the Russian fly in certain sections, and the drought which prevailed in others. In the latter sections, however, there have been general and abundant rains since the first of April, which have materially improved conditions. The condition is generally good throughout the west and the northwest, all the Rocky mountain states, and on the Pacific coast, though still in general not quite so good as in 1915. As a whole, it is somewhat better in the south central states than last year. It is also better in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia.

Decreased Acreage in Market.

The decrease in acreage has been greatest in the large wheat growing states, and particularly marked in the central west, or, according to the committee, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Iowa. It is due to unfavorable weather last fall during the planting time and to an unusual amount of winter killing, which was mentioned above. This caused an abandoned acreage much larger than the average. As a result much land will be plowed up and replanted to oats and corn. There is not much change in the acreage in Nebraska and the southwestern states, except in Oklahoma and Texas, where the acreage is also less than last year. In the western, Pacific coast, eastern and southern states the acreage is much the same as last year.

Following its estimate of the situation, the National Chamber committee tells the story of wheat at length. It explains where, when and how it is grown and something of its enemies. Figures shown in a chart which the committee submits demonstrate the fallacy of a pronouncement that the prices of grain foods have shown an advancing tendency of late years. A survey of prices shows that for over 50 years there has been no decided tendency either towards advances or declines, but merely a series of indeterminate fluctuations that indicate nothing in particular and lend no support to any theory.

"This, too, in spite of the unprecedented and abnormal demand caused by the European war, with consequent high prices," the committee goes on. "It requires no gift of prophecy to realize that with peace must come a cessation of this demand, the releasing of the pent-up Russian surplus, and consequent declines in prices that can be stayed only by crop disasters in this country and other surplus wheat producing nations, so that the next phase of the curve at that time will in all likelihood be downward."

WEIRD PROBLEMS ARISE ON COUNTY DELEGATE TICKET

Ira Cole defeated John A. Holmes by a vote of 47 to 27, and in the eleventh George H. Lewis defeated W. A. Larue by three votes, 45 to 42.

For alternates the republicans had almost as many peculiar situations as on the delegate ticket. Not only was E. L. Naylor elected on the single vote cast in the sixth district, but in the first, which is the first ward, Floyd Mathers was elected with two votes. The third vote cast was for L. C. Rise. There were no candidates' names printed on the ticket. In the ninth there was also a vacancy on the ballot, and James Osman and Lee Shockey each received two of the town votes. In case both wish to go to Columbus as alternates the election board will flip a coin, but as the former was also elected delegate he will probably be declared ineligible for the second place. In the thirteenth district Charles John got the only vote cast for alternate, and is elected, like Naylor, on a hundred-percent proposition.

On the democratic side of the fence the pencils were busy. There were thirteen delegate candidates in the county to be voted upon at large, and only a few extra names were inscribed on the ballot. But only two candidates for alternate filed petitions, and as thirteen were to be chosen the voters in many cases wrote on extra names. Altogether 156 were introduced making a total of 158 names to be checked up by the election board. The two whose names were written on the ballot, C. C. Arnold and D. W. Bowman, received almost as many as the delegate candidates, but the rest got one apiece, with the exceptions of Daniel W. Morris, of Lima, and F. B. Cotner, Lafayette mayor, J. of the P. banker, township trustee, treasurer of the county executive committee, etc., etc. They drew three apiece. The vote for alternate was, Arnold 116, Bowman 954, but none of the 156 unintentional candidates will qualify because they have not the required eight percent of the total vote cast for that office.

Allen county's vote for the district delegation to the St. Louis convention was as follows: Howard A. Amos, Sidney, 988; and Emmett R. Curtis, Lima, 1236; for alternates, Alvah E. Binkley, Greenville, 898, Dr. Gomer Jennings, West Milton, Miami county, 734, and Ira McGritz, Greenville, 390.

Reports from around the state give the new cure-all panacea, the presidential preference primary, a black name. The vote throughout the rural sections of the state will average less than twenty percent of full vote in each party, and only the interest in great bond issue elections in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo and smaller cities brought out anything like forty or fifty percent of the vote in those centers.

Logan and Darke counties have precincts where not one vote was cast, not even by the judges and clerks. There are probably many such precincts around Ohio. The cost of election there, according to a Bellefontaine paper, will run $1.50 per vote, almost as much as Adams county farmers used to get. Mercer county spent $1500 for a primary for fifteen percent of the voters to attend. Darke county averaged between fifteen and twenty per cent, and that in the face of a red-hot fight for alternateship to the national convention, between two rival factions.

In dozens of Ohio papers yesterday there were editorial comments which expressed disapproval or ridicule of the primary laws. "Bill" Hoffer, of the Wapakoneta News, opened up on the legislature which passed the law and called for the footlitter to club a few legislators, urging men with more practical common sense to get into the General Assembly. Other editors voiced the same sentiments in less pointed terms. Even some of the city papers fired broadsides into the Willis legislature for its remarkable pro-duct, and if the consensus of opinion is any criterion a few amendments will result.

WOULD-BE LYNCHERS RETIRE PEACEFULLY

LAWRENCE, Kans., April 27.—This city is quiet today after the departure of a mob of nearly 300 men who came here from Topeka in motor cars last night to lynch Fred Bissell, alleged slayer of Edna Dinmore, 10 years old, in Topeka.

Reports that members of the mob had gone to Lansing, where the accused man had been placed in the Kansas state penitentiary for safe-keeping, were unfounded. The body of the girl was found in a vacant house which had been set afire on Tuesday afternoon. Bissell admitted he had purchased candy for the victim a short time before her body was found.

There isn't a mercantile in this city that will not do the right thing by the public. The people should keep by keeping their money in Lima.

Myers has been serving as manager of the company since the partnership was started. Receiver Quail will continue the business while settling up the affairs of the company.

SURELY STOMACH OF GREECE IS WITH ENTENTE ALLIES

Will Remain There as Long as England Controls
Food Supply.

Bread Wins Out in Contest
With Diplomacy, is Biggest Lesson

ATHENS, April 27.—Greece won't come into the war on the side of Germany. In mind Greece may be with Germany; in stomach, she's with the allies. In the great Grecian conflict between thought and digestion, digestion wins.

Greece may be with the Germans, but if you're from the United States and run around this town talking to Greeks you can't think so. You can't talk Greek, of course. But you find plenty of Greeks who have been to the United States and who talk American. And you can't find a Greek in Athens or in all the rest of Greece who isn't with the allies. If he has ever been in the United States. But even that part of the Grecian public that hasn't been in the United States is with the allies in stomach, if not in heart.

The British navy has a long, long arm. This arm reaches right into your hotel room every morning, before you get your night gown off. You can't have a fire in your room because there's a scarcity of coal; British navy holding up Greek ships.

When they bring breakfast you look to see whether you've got one or two rolls. If it's one, that's all you get, even if they do charge you seven dollars a day for room and board. If it's two, that's a sign that a ship has come in with some flour. The day when there was no roll hasn't come yet; the British navy can't be that cruel. But the point is that, if it wanted to, the British navy could make Greece a breadless, coalless, oilless, ammunitionless, saltless, sugarless country within a week.

At that little narrow neck of water, Gibraltar, which is the only ocean route to Greece—and the only route, now that the allies have Saloniki—Greek ships stop at the order of the British navy. They wait, too, until the British navy tells them to proceed.

The British navy always seems to know just how much flour, sugar, oil and so forth there is in Greece. Just about the day on which Greece thinks it is going to starve or suffer for lack of one of these elements of life, the British let a ship—perhaps just one little ship—bearing the needed elements, pass Gibraltar and start on its way to Greece.

It's a great event in Athens when the ship arrives. The newspapers tell about it. "Thirty-five hundred tons of coal arrived today," says one item. "Part of it will go to the electric company to keep the cars running and the city lighted."

"A ship load of flour was released at Gibraltar and will be here within four days," say the papers. "The government food commission will distribute it among the bakers." Within three or four days you get two rolls for breakfast. If the ship happens to contain sugar you'll get five or six pieces instead of three.

Thus the British navy does out life to Greece. It doesn't require and diplomacy to keep Greece neutral, bread beats diplomacy.

The Greek army is in the same boat or an even more uncomfortable one than the Greek public. There are certain portions of the Greek army up toward the Bulgarian frontier that must receive their food through the commissary of the allies. It's the same thing with their ammunition. Bridges have been blown up for military purposes, and this incidentally prevents certain parts of the Greek army from getting supplies by rail and they depend on the allies for everything they use. That's another situation that works for neutrality, or has, up to now.

All the fear that the Greek army might turn against the unprotected allies at Saloniki and drive them into the sea has gone. The allies are protected by the British navy, way back at Gibraltar.

If the Germans get Greece on their side it will be necessary for the first to go to Gibraltar and stop this monkey business with Greek ships. Until they do this, the Greeks are going to be neutral, even the most pro-German of them.

The allies are not tolerating any "nonsense" these days on the part of pro-German Greeks. Greeks who are spies for the Germans are arrested and put into Greek jails until they can be moved to a military one. A Greek newspaper man, who was being paid by the Germans to send pro-German articles to his paper, was arrested by ally soldiers. The pro-German Greeks don't like this; neither do some of the New York ones.

"But," warns the Greek stomach "Go easy! Don't get mad!" And so Greece "goes easy," and she will continue so to go.

Everybody is going to learn a lesson from this war. Perhaps Greece will. The Greeks are not producers, they are money handlers. Banks are more important than factories, money changers' stalls than workshops; cafes than farms. Her great pine forests are tapped like our maple sugar trees for juice that makes a wine that tastes like spruce gum; no turpentine to add to the world's wealth, or no paper pulp such as the Swedes secure from their great forests, is ever taken from these forests.

The biggest lesson of the war for little and big countries, too, is that no country is safe that is not self-sustaining. No country can be a parasite on the rest of the world and be independent. That's the lesson that may teach Greece to encourage wheat and potato raising after the war is over. Just now Greece knows what side her bread—what little she has of it—is buttered on.

LIMA MAN IS IN BAD AT SANDUSKY

Fred Cramer, 26, arrested several days ago in Sandusky, on charge of burglary and larceny, pleaded guilty to the charge at a hearing in that city yesterday. The young man has lived in Lima for a number of years, but lately has been staying in the city on the lake.

VETERAN LAWYER IS HISTORICAL AUTHOR

W. L. Mackenzie Reads
Paper of History of Allen County Bar.

Attorney William L. Mackenzie, a veteran in point of service at the Allen County bar, gave the paper at the monthly meeting of the Allen County Historical society last night in Memorial hall.

There was a large attendance of members and friends, as well as representative members of the bar association. His subject was "Early History of the Allen County Bar." He went back many years, when the county had but a few lawyers. His paper dealt with cases of extreme interest prosecuted in early days and told of those which have held attention, even before the present court-house was constructed.

His paper brought forth many appreciative encomiums and in some ways, was a revelation to many of the younger attorneys present.

The society's collections were enriched by the presentation of an old volume of Swan's Treatise of Ohio, being one of the originally published volumes, bound in leather and which is yellow with age. It was published in 1837 and was presented by Justice J. H. Hamilton. It was owned by a justice who served in Allen county's younger days.

Attorney W. L. Parmenter will present to the society a book from which Chase took a part of the material for the Ohio Statutes.

The next meeting of the association will be held on May 31, when Charles A. Graham, secretary of the Allen County Agricultural society, will read the paper dealing with early county fairs and their history.

CIRCULAR ST. LOOT REMAINS UNSOLVED

Police have so far been unable to run down the thieves that entered the home of J. C. Morrison, of 122 East Circular street some time Tuesday night and made away with $710 in money and jewelry. It is the belief of police that the work was done by professionals and was carefully planned before executed.

Entrance was gained to the house through a window on the second floor by means of a ladder and both doors of the garage were left to insure hasty flight in case any of the household were aroused. Among the things taken was a valuable gold watch, a $200 diamond stud, and $60 in money. Morrison has offered a reward of $25 for the recovery of the watch, which in addition to being valuable was an heirloom.

MRS. SAXON WANTS TO BE STATESENATOR

Cares For Invalid Husband and Sons, But Would Hold Office.

The first Kansas woman candidate for the legislature has begun her campaign. Mrs. Theodore Saxon, now living in Potwin, a suburb of Topeka, is the feminine candidate. She hopes to gain the democratic nomination for state senator to succeed Senator James A. Troutman, republican.

Mrs. Saxon will have no opposition for the democratic nomination, as is understood.

The woman state senatorial candidate farmed—her husband is an invalid—the Saxon farm in Pottawatomie county until three years ago. Then she moved to Topeka to give her two boys the advantages of the city schools. But she still manages the farm by automobile and cares for her husband and two boys, 16 and 13 years old.

Mrs. Saxon is a member of the old Lincoln family of Holton, one of the pioneer families of this part of Kansas. She is especially interested in rural credits, and believes she has a law that will provide a real rural credits scheme for the Kansas farmers.

Kansas now has a woman candidate for congress. Dr. Eva Harding, of Topeka, on the Democratic ticket; one for superintendent of public instruction, Miss Lizzie Wester, of Salina, republican; and Mrs. Saxon, democrat. There are about two hundred women candidates for county offices, but none other thus far, for congressional or state office.

RESPONSIBILITY

By the vote of the public, Lima city officials have been authorized to expend a great sum of public money. Counting the assessments upon property owners, the funds to be paid out for improvements will run far in excess of the $1,000,000 mark, no mere trifle for a town the size of Lima.

As pointed out in The Times-Democrat before the bond issues were authorized, the time to keep tab on the treasury is during the consideration of contracts. Familiarity with the proceedings of the officers, on the part of the public at large, is an adequate remedy against all possible irregularities.

There is no reason to doubt that Lima has well-meaning men at the helm. No complaints of insincerity have been forthcoming from political opponents, no matter how injudicious have been several of the appointments chalked up against the present administration. All criticisms of the present regime have been on matters of judgment.

We believe that Mayor Simpson will strive to see that the orders of the taxpayers of Lima are faithfully carried out, but it is to be hoped that his administration realizes the great responsibility resting upon it. The public expects results. The eyes of the city rest upon the present officers, and they should recognize that mistakes of judgment are often misconstrued and in some cases as disastrous as mistakes of purpose. Let us hope that the administration will feel the responsibility of the task of improving Lima and the interest with which the public will watch every step in the procedure.

THE NEXT STEP

Now that Lima has been assured of a modern water supply, well-paved streets and a clean river instead of an open sewer through the city, the program of improvement is well launched. Lima is on the way toward growth and expansion. But there are other steps.

We have been promised an early vote on an adequate sewer system. The new school bond proposition is to be decided at an early date. Building projects are contemplated which will gain in number as the streets are paved and the sewers laid. But don't forget the proposed Young Men's Christian Association building.

The campaign for a new edifice capable of doing a great work among the boys of the city will start Tuesday. The opening gun has already been fired, but the dinner at that time will offer an opportunity to map out a plan of action. We have voted to provide clean water for a swimming pool and clean streets with no dust to blow in the windows, and we have decided to remove the fragrant (?) odors from aromatic Hawk Creek. A new "Y" would fit in well with the advance movement.

Arguments for the project are too many, arguments against it are too few, to necessitate explanation. The funds to be raised will be procured by popular subscription, and already generous citizens who have the welfare of Lima at heart have signified their willingness to contribute to a generous extent. But the Association building will not be the monument of a few philanthropists. It will commemorate the generosity of hundreds of citizens in less luxurious situations in life. Many small contributions will overbalance a few large ones. It is for all, and all should help. Every citizen should bear in mind that it is his son as well as the son of the wealthy contributor, who will profit. Lima has started well in her stride toward cityhood. Let the advance continue.

It is pathetic to witness the decline of a prominent man's popularity, especially when he is a "big" man, despite his disappearing judgment. In January, Republican House Leader Mann was behind the president in his request for preparedness against war. In March he voted against the tabling of the cowardly McLenore resolution, abandoning neutral rights at sea. Last week he sneered at the president's ultimatum to Germany, styling it a political grandstand play. And judging from expressions from his constituents printed in Chicago papers, he will retire from congress after the November elections.

UNEVEN VOTING

More than a score of Ohio cities voted Tuesday on some form of bond issues. Most of the projects failed, notably that in Toledo, a city which faces a grave financial problem verging almost on the impossible. Cincinnati and Cleveland carried their programs through, but many smaller cities were unable to push over the issues needed to carry out necessary programs of financial retrenchment.

Two reasons may have contributed to the failure of many cities to enjoy the success which came to Lima Tuesday. One was the light vote cast, although one city passed bond issues with a ten percent vote participating. Another is the law demanding two-thirds of all votes cast in order to legalize the bond issues.

Every man who opposed the bond issues voted twice. Two men's votes were needed to equal his. He had the friends of progress on the defensive. For every negative vote two positive votes were needed, hence in reality the bonds were at the mercy of inclement weather, popular apathy and stubborn obstinacy. It may be fair, but it doesn't seem that way to most observers.

Now that Democratic organizers and precinct workers workers and voters have pushed across the Simpson administration's bond issue project (started by the Standish administration, which hired Clark and Pratt), we presume the aforesaid Simpson administration will rebuke the Republican shirkers who failed to turn out by appointing only patriotic Democrats who helped. That is, we don't think.

With the aid of cartoons, editorials, news stories and argumentative statistics, The Times-Democrat printed more reading-matter boosting the bond issue idea than the rest of Lima papers combined. Yet some opponents of the improvement program cried that this was a political issue.

S. A. Lytle is explaining to his friends that he was not the cast side man dismissed from public service who opposed the bonds, referred to in this paper. Ad is right. We did not mean him. He boosted progress.

The skulls were placed under Cal. Roosevelt in Massachusetts and New Jersey Tuesday. When he gets that nomination, which appears to be set for June 6, the rollers will be applied in forty-some other states as well.

The chances are that those Ford enthusiasts who want to nominate the crusader who got (?) the boys out of the trenches before Christmas, would be the first to knock when he didn't measure up to their expectations.

Frank Monnett probably realizes by this time that an indictment is a pretty hard load to carry in a primary race.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who believed Henry Ford to be a great figure?

NEW NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

By DAISY DEAN

MABEL TRUNNELLE, popular Klees-Eidson star, is little more than five feet four inches tall, and she weighs 120 pounds, which fits her most admirably for parts in which she is supposed to appeal for protection to some strong man.

She is just of a size to nestle her head against the heart of the hero, and to look up into his eyes in the last scene in that bewitching manner that says more eloquently than words could express it: "I love you. Take me and hold me all my life."

Her hair is the blackest of black, and she has eyes to match—dark, deep, soulful eyes that possess that lippy knack of expressing every emotion from joy to despair. And Miss Trunnelle knows how and when to use her eyes to the best advantage. A glance from them, and a smile from her lips, and even the most backward hero in the world would leap to do her bidding.

Anything to Break in Print. Virginia Norden, just engaged by Balboa to star in emotional roles, is personally of an ultra emotional temperament, with a penchant for poetry. There is a legend current that having one day acquired certain ducks for whom the surrounding scenery provided no suitable pond, she was so affected by their sad plight that she wept real tears until the ducks were comfortably fixed.

Picture Inspires Flawless Poetry. Fern McChesney, the well known scenario writer, after viewing a Selig picture play, was so entranced by the beautiful scenic effects that she dashed off this word painting: "Frost had dyed the forests purple, brown, yellow and crimson. Red winesaps and lemon plippins hung from the trees. Golden pumpkins were on the slopes. The sun shone out of a perfect sky. An invigorating tang was in the air. All nature seemed atune."

Mary Miles Minter has an offer for a short trip into vaudeville. Not long ago vaudeville managers were threatening vaudeville performers who wanted to appear in pictures. Now Mary is being threatened with injunctions by her movie managers for the Metro company.

Helen Rosson declares she is not engaged, despite the fact that a practical joker stated in a newspaper in Santa Barbara that she was about to be married to a prominent young actor with the American company.

Mary Moore, of the gifted Moore family, which includes Tom, Owen and Matt Moore, Mary Pickford, Alice Joyce and Jane Gail, is at work on a new play for Francis X. Bushman, called "A Million a Minute."

One of the latest stars to join the Triangle company is Dorothy Dalton. Miss Dalton was born in Chicago, but is no relation to Jack Dalton.

"Alien Souls" is the name of a picture in which Geesue Hayakawa and his wife, Tsuri Aoki, will appear shortly.

gasta from the sea. The things that catch the eye first are a great white anchor painted on a hill rising back of the city, to guide ships past the rocks, and the big signs of the exporting companies that make the city's wealth. The next feature to claim attention is a crowd of clamorous boatmen offering to negotiate

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS Eat Less Meat if You Feel Back-achy or Have Bladder Trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night. To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

After Grip— Winter Colds —Bad Blood

You are pale, thin, weak—with little vitality. Your liver is sluggish and the bad blood causes your stomach muscles to lose their elasticity and become flabby and weak—then indigestion.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, purely vegetable and free from alcohol or narcotics, is the great and powerful blood purifier of today. Extracted from American forest herbs and roots. Contains no alcohol. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

Take it as directed and it will search out impure and poisonous matter throughout the system and eliminate it through the natural channels.

NATURE POINTS THE WAY.

Columbus, Ohio. "I had an obstinate cough which I was unable to get rid of. I tried several remedies which did little good. Then I began taking Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery; it helped me at once, and by continuing its use for a few weeks the cough left me except slight colds. I kept 'Golden Medical Discovery' in the house all the time as a family remedy."—Mr. GUS RAMBACHER, Southern Hotel, Columbus, Ohio.

the doubtful business of landing at a price commensurate with the most exaggerated risks. There are no sights to be seen in Antofagasta, which is in itself something of a claim to renown. As though to make up for the unfriendliness of nature, the people are particularly hospitable to the stranger within their gates. They are a hustling and amiable community who deserve a better geographical fate.

HEALTH HINTS DAILY CARE HELPS KEEP ALWAYS SPRING FOOT ILLS

The warm, moist days of early spring bring foot troubles. The feet feel big and heavy, puff up, grow tender and ache. But if people would give as much attention daily to their feet as to their hands many foot ailments could be avoided.

Careful attention to the fit of one's shoes will prevent the forming of blisters. An ill-fitting shoe that rubs the heel will cause blisters to form the first time you take a spring walk.

Another spot where blisters are apt to form, unless one's shoes fit perfectly, is on the sole of the foot under the little toe.

A shoe that is too narrow in front and crowds and pushes the front of the nail to one side will cause ingrowing toe nails. In bad cases it is best to consult a chiropodist.

If one would prevent a recurrence of the trouble see to it that your shoes do not pinch the toes.

Many adults have weak feet. This is because in their childhood they contracted bad foot habits or were made to wear shoes that were too small or too large.

Then they did not notice it, for their bodies were light and their muscles strong, but as middle age approaches the elasticity of tissue and muscles decrease and foot ills develop.

WE ARE National Florists AND WHY?

No doubt many who have seen our advertisements and noticed the "National Florist" design have wondered what it means. It signifies this: In each of many cities of the United States there is one Florist working through headquarters in New York with each of the other Florists. Such Florists are called National Florists. The object of the organization, the National Floral Corporation, is to give better service, especially

When You Want to Give Flowers to Someone at a Distance You then give us the order, and at no extra expense to you—not even that of a post stamp—we see that the order is filled as well as though you were on the spot to see to it yourself.

Also, when you go to another city and want to patronize a Florist, look up the National Florist and you will be sure of good service and right prices.

Right here in this city it will pay you to go to the National Florist, because, like all National Florists, he is a reliable Florist and enterprising to a degree which benefits his customers.

It's the Making of Your Home

Convenience is the secret of the charming home—and Electric Service is the secret of convenience

In the homes of thoughtful people, wherever you go, you'll find Electricity there before you—making those big and little household tasks more easy and convenient.

If you are a woman doing your own housework, you can find nothing else so helpful in making your work lighter and more pleasant.

No Monday morning grind over the wash tub—the electric washer will settle that.

No more dusty, ineffective sweeping—the electric vacuum cleaner helps you there.

And so on down the line—every home is brighter—every task is lighter because of the wonderful convenience of Electric Service.

OHIO ELECTRIC RAILWAY COMPANY.

JAPAN HAS TUNNEL NEAR 3 MILES LONG

Another Bore in Island Kingdom Is 2 Miles in Length.

As a part of an electric railway line built to connect Osaka, one of the chief commercial cities of Japan, with Nara, about 19 miles distant, there has been constructed a tunnel which penetrates the Ikaruga mountains, in cross-sectional area it is said to be the largest tunnel in Japan.

Its length, 11,038 feet, is said to be exceeded by only one other Japanese tunnel, namely, the Sango tunnel, which is 15,370 feet long, but will only accommodate a single railroad track.

The more recent Ikoma tunnel, as it is called, is double tracked. It required two years and eight months to complete the undertaking. The tunnel's location was accurately established by two independent triangulations; for the alignment a transit with a 15-inch telescope was employed.

This was placed on a wooden tower on the highest point of the mountain. Because the wind swayed the tower slightly it was necessary to make the observations on a very calm day.

Excavations were begun at both ends simultaneously. The final error in alignment was only one and three-tenths inches in two miles. In making the excavations enormous rock pressure was encountered where water was in the fissures.

On one occasion this caused a mass of rock to fall at a point 2300 feet from the eastern entrance, killing 19 men and imprisoning 147 others, who were rescued 49 hours later in a very exhausted condition.—Popular Mechanics.

SPRAGUE FUNERAL IS HELD AT WOODLAWN

With respect, members of the newspaper profession and many others assembled this afternoon to pay their last tribute to all that was mortal of their fellow worker, Grant M. Sprague.

From the time the casket was borne lovingly from the late home in the Thomas apartments on west Market street at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon until all that was mortal of his frail body had been consigned to Mother Earth, newspaper reporters, editors and employees in the various departments of the city newspapers, were present.

Practically the entire staff of the Republic-Gazette was represented. Carrying the pall were old-time friends of Mr. Sprague, as well as E. Owen, secretary-treasurer of the Republic-Gazette company, and Donald D. Campbell, managing editor of the Republic-Gazette, the latter two men with whom Mr. Sprague worked daily. Other pall bearers were Emmitt R. Curtis, William L. Mackenzie, J. Boyd Douglass and Frank W. Holmes.

The funeral party proceeded in a special car to Woodlawn cemetery, where, at the chapel, at 2 o'clock, services were held. Dr. M. B. Fuller, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, delivered a brief address and read a couple of comforting hymns.

The body was laid to final rest at Woodlawn. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, attesting in their small way the respect in which Mr. Sprague was held and carrying their own message of love and sympathy to the family. The Allen County Press association, recently organized, consisting of active newspaper workers, sent a floral offering while the Republic-Gazette sent tributes of fragrant blossoms. Many pretty pieces were from close friends and those who so well knew Mr. Sprague in life and in his work.

BILLY SUNDAY WEDS MISS EDITH FABER

Justice Hamilton Has Busy Day as Aid to Dan Cupid, Esq.

Morris J. Slusser, a young farmer residing near Columbus Grove, brought his bride, Ida Jane Bailey, to the court house to secure a license. The permit was not finished, until William Worthing Sunday, drakeman, of Union City, Mich., and Edith Marie Faber, cigarmaker, of Delphos, came to the probate office for a license.

Sunday and his bride were invited into the marriage parlors to witness the marriage of Slusser and Miss Bailey. Then their license was issued and it was such a delightful way to have it all over with, that Justice Hamilton remained and married Sunday and Miss Faber. The ceremonies took place at 11 o'clock today.

Later he owned a farm in Michigan. He spent many years at San Luis Potosi, but could not stand the revolutions, and he went to Fort Worth.

EAGLES' CARNIVAL IS TO OPEN MAY DAY

Week of Joy Promised to Lovers of Fun and Frolic.

What would the "good old summer time" be without the annual Carnival Week? Why it would be just one dreary round of sameness. People look forward to this annual pilgrimage to the carnival grounds with pleasure year after year and when the papers carry the first notice there are many expressions of joy and then come the advance agents with the big posters and the posters and the papers tell about the shows—then one knows the big joy week is close by.

Carnival Week will start Monday, May 1 under the auspices of the local lodge of Eagles and who are very happy to announce that they have secured one of the very best of tented organizations, Hampton's Great Empire Shows and one that they have selected from a great many offered and one that they know is noted for the cleanliness and goodness of their respective shows and attractions and their own concert band of twenty musicians.

Among the twenty novel shows they will present, will be the International Theater presenting musical comedy, the days of '49, Mamie, the big Athletic Exhibition, Human Sile, the London Dog and Pony Circus, the Congress of World's Wonders, the Azora Midgates, the funny Charlie Chaplin Show, Joyland, brand new $10,000 Carousal, the big Eli Wheel of Joy and countless other big attractions.

BIG CIRCUS COMING, LIFE WORTH LIVING.

Barnum and Bailey to be in Lima, on July 26, With Menagerie.

Barnum and Bailey's circus, bigger and better than ever, is coming to Lima on July 26. While this is probably not the only circus which will visit Lima this summer, yet this is the only one decided upon surely, as yet.

Even the Grocers', Meat Dealers' and Clerks' association wish to attend the circus. So, in deference to these desires, they will set the date of their annual excursion to Cedar Point for some other day. It had been dated for July 24.

Beginning Wednesday, May 10, groceries and meat markets will close for the afternoon. Housewives will want to keep these in mind, for if their orders are not placed for early deliveries there is likely to be many a cold meal for dinner during the summer season. A meeting of the association is scheduled for next Tuesday night.

WOMAN NABS BURGLAR.

TOLEDO, O., April 27.—When Mrs. Edward Sullivan last night found three men in her apartments over a grocery conducted by her husband, she grabbed one of the men. She screamed and her husband ran to her assistance. They held the man until the police arrived. The prisoner says he is Abe Moss, of Cleveland. His companions escaped.

SUNDAY SCHOOL FORUM.

1. How do you get pupils to work for special days?

Make your special day programs democratic, involving many in the formation of the program and then assigning definite tasks to many pupils. Plan that special encouragement be given where needed, and special commendation where it is warranted.

2. Is the quarterly the best help

we can get?

In the study of the International uniform lesson, the quarterly periodic for pupil and teacher has been a popular means of helpfulness; but the best help is the Bible itself which needs to be studied carefully in relation to each lesson; after that is done, a study of many quarterlies and commentaries will help. The Sunday School Times is among the best helps.

3. How may we secure a record of the number who attend Sunday school on time?

Have some one stationed at each entrance who gives to every member an "on time card" no cards to be given to members of the school who come after the moment for the opening service begins. These "on time" cards can be handed in with the offering and counted as a part of the class record.

DO YOUR CHILDREN
LOVE FLOWERS?

THERE WAS once a woman who had such a fondness for flowers that she could never bear to cut any of them for decorations. Her garden was a delight to the eye, a place wherein grew all the lovely old flowers that are dear to our grandmothers. It was in this rare old garden that she took her children and imbued them with the same love for the flowers that she had. These children grew up, and because of the pleasant memories of the old garden they in turn taught their children the happiness that is in the face and the scent of a flower. Laughter, joy, happiness, youth and love are synonymous with flowers.

We wonder if all mothers and fathers teach their children the proper love for the garden? A case came to our notice the other day of a woman going into her garden to pluck several daffodil blooms to take to a sick friend. Imagine her sorrow and chagrin when she found only two blossoms left, and down the street went a couple school children with the other blooms, chuckling with the idea that they had done something "smart."

Mothers guard against that. It was wrong, of course, from the standpoint of ethics, but if they had been given the true love for the flowers, they wouldn't have wanted to take them. There is no better time than now to tell them all about the flower—how they are akin to people, and how all people should love them.

Indirectly, through the fairy tales all children love, tell them of the beauty of the flower, the happiness it can bring to every one. But most of all, teach them gentleness for all things of nature, for it is a fundamental element of all great characters.

Betsy Botts, of Botkins, says—Naow doubt readin' is an improvin' occupation, but therer's a lot a people who don't read the book they ought, and that's the book of life."

Cheer Up, DEARS, the girl who lived in the "good old days," was also pestered by the lectures on how much better girls were in the good older days.

EVERYBODY'S ENGLISH.

A World reader complains of "the large class in New York and to come extent in other cities which refers to oil as 'erl,' girl as 'goll' and a number of similar words." There is no use for it, he says, "except carelessness."

Is it carelessness? Carelessness would be more consistent. If slipshod speech finds "erl" easier than "oil," why distort girl into the more complicated "goll?"

Corrupt pronunciation seems far oftener pervasivity. The cockney will tell you "as 'ow 'e's tried hover and hover to say 'hatch.' He can aspirate it perfectly—in the wrong place. We have heard rural New Englanders who always said "runnin'," "drivin'," "playin'," nevertheless bring out "gardin'," "curtin'," "cortin'" with ringing final g's.

Why, if it were merely a question of ease or carelessness, would anybody call it "thee-ay-ter" when "theatre" requires so much less deliberate lingual effort?

These are mysteries that have never been explained. Some of them are akin to the strange force which drives a man maneuvering to step around the coal hod to put his foot squarely into it—New York World.

WESTINGHOUSE TIED-UP.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 27.—Fifteen hundred workers were added to the unemployed of the Westinghouse companies today when notices were posted at the Shady Side plant of the Westinghouse Electrical & Manufacturing company saying the shops had been closed to prevent annoyance to employees. This practically completes the tie-up of the various factories where a proportion of workmen in each struck for an eight-hour day.

Guerin, has been elected a member of the National Academy of Design, designed and executed the fine equestrian statue of Joan of Arc, recently unveiled in Riverside Drive park, New York city. Miss Hyatt was born in Cambridge, Mass., where her father was an eminent zoologist. Her youthful interest in animals was as keen as his, but it took another turn. Her specialty was the study and sculptural reproduction of the higher animal forms, and it is in this field that she has won considerable renown. Her first teacher was Henry Kitson of Boston. Later she worked under H. A. MacNell and Gutzon Borglum. She won a bronze medal at the St. Louis exposition in 1904 and a third-class medal at the Paris Salon of 1910. The best museums of the United States are acquiring her work. Her new honor, no doubt, is the reward of her "Joan of Arc."

Ortrude Townsend Tries to Show a More Human Side.

"DUDLEY, may I speak to you for the east next week?" Ortrude asked Ortrude as they left the dining room.

"Certainly. Shall we go in here?" he asked, indicating the living room.

After he had entered she closed the door and drew a couple of chairs up to the blazing fire. Dudley, seeing that the communication promised to be a long one sat be a long one sat

"It is very associations. You had better wait hard for me to tell you what I wish to," began Ortrude nervous-ly. "I know what you think I care only for money, and to think no good of me. But I have a side that is not quite so bad as the side you have seen—a side that loves fair dealing." She paused to consider how to go on. Dudley looked up at her, but she dropped her eyes.

"Is it true that you are in great need of money in the business?" she asked in a low voice.

"The business is pretty badly tied up," he replied in a constrained voice.

"Could you— Would anything that belongs to me be of any use to you? Would it help you out in any way?" She paused and glanced at him to see how he was taking her suggestion.

"Thank you, no," said Dudley in surprise. "You have no ready money. It is that that is needed."

"Surely you could borrow money on the land that was left to me," Ortrude's tone was almost eager.

"I do appreciate your offer, but we would rather not." It was Dudley's turn to seem embarrassed.

"I am not willing, indeed I will not consent to have more than a third of the estate as it stands now. If there have been losses since the division was made I want to stand my share. I have no way of knowing how things are except through you." Ortrude sat fingering her handkerchief and looking down.

Dudley was silent for a while; then he said in a low tone:

"I am sure if my father knows of your attitude it gives him pleasure." Ortrude gave him a quick grateful look. "I am also sure that I am doing as he would wish me to when I say that we will on no account touch what was given to you and what seemed ample provision for you."

"It was given me to do with as I pleased, and I would gladly part with some of it to buy a little respect from you." She did not drop her eyes soon enough to hide the tears.

"It will not be necessary for you to do that. I already see that you have not shown your best side in our brief acquaintance. Some situations act like poison on us and bring out the worst that is in us." Dudley smiled into her face.

"Thank you for saying that. It will be a comfort to me. I want to tell you that I am expecting to start

We can and do under-price and under-sell. Why? TAKE NOTE OF THIS: Our home is on a side street—out is about half; then we have no high salaried managers, no floor walkers, no auditors, no inspectors, no elevators, no rest rooms, no auto deliveries. Just a few competent, conscientious sales ladies whom we can trust—and our customers can trust; that makes a big saving expense; and it is taken off the price.

Cultivate a Big Spirit

Eliminate Petty Jealousies

If You'd Do Big Things

Man Cannot Make Most of His Talents and Lead in Any Great Work If Soul Is Filled With Envy, Ill Will, Criticism and Other Small Faults.

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

IF YOU are gifted in any special line of endeavor, if you are a painter or a poet or a musician, cultivate a big spirit of appreciation and generosity toward others if you would obtain to any heights.

Of course you can perfect yourself in technique and attain success of a certain kind, without putting your heart into it. But the real success in any kind of art and, in truth, in any kind of enterprise, must come from the amount of unselfish devotion and warm-hearted enthusiasm which enters into the work.

If your heart is filled with petty jealousies, narrow ideas, envy, ill-will, and criticism toward your fellow toilers who are striving for the same goals, it will be utterly impossible for you to do big things.

It is a curious and sad fact that on the great and glorious sea of harmony, there is so much inharmonious among the voyagers. The bickerings, misunderstandings, quarrels and discords among musicians have come to a proverbial jest. Less quarrelsome, perhaps, but far from ideal, are the relations of poets, authors and artists.

Wholesome, candid and dignified criticisms are of great value in any field of endeavor. We are stimulated to new effort and elevated to an understanding of higher ideals by kind, fair, just criticism.

There is scarcely any human being strong enough to endure continual praise, but to be just and fair criticism must be comprehensive and sympathetic.

In the world of music there are all kinds of talent—many kinds of voices, many kinds of instrumental performers, many kinds of composers, and creators and interpreters.

The heavens of literature are illumined by various kinds of stars, planets and constellations. It is this vast variety which gives the radiance to the dome into which we gaze.

If we thought these stars were all bickering with one another, each filled with jealousy of the other's radiance, how contemptible it would seem. If the drops of water which make the high tide were jealous of one another, each drop desirous to be the only drop in the ocean, how ridiculous it would be.

The more gifted people there are in the world, the greater their achievements, the larger their successes, the richer earth-life becomes for all of us.

Whatever you are doing in the world, remember you are putting your own personality into it. Every thought, every emotion has its weight, and will influence your way eventually. If you are small, petty and narrow, these qualities will crop out in what you are doing. If you are a big, broad and generous, your life will be a success.

SAYS MEXICO, PEON, HIGHBROW, LONGS FOR INTERVENTION

Writer Declares All Classes Except Politicians Look to U. S. For Help.

Asserts Supposed Hostility to America is Manufactured.

NEW YORK, April 27.—When Gen. Pershing's expeditionary force marches down the Paseo de la Reforma of Mexico City—if Washington finally gives it the word to go on—rich and poor, shoe clad and barefooted, will throw flowers. "Viva" their lungs hoarse and otherwise thank God and all the saints for their deliverance from "revolutionaries," declares Arthur Constantine. As for the foreigners in the capital—they will get drunk to a man.

From hour to hour the populace of Mexico City—and the same applies to the populace of any other bandit ridden community of Mexico—awaits, tight strung with deferred hope, for the inevitable coming of the Americans.

After the news of the crossing of Gen. Pershing's force into Mexico filtered through the censored cable, telegraph and mail, and it became generally known in the capital, there was a constant procession of Mexicans into the reading room of the American club, and all day long they gaped and pored over the finger worn American newspapers giving the details of Pershing's movements. For them it was a ray of hope at last and they made no bones of hiding their exultation.

The Mexicans of all classes, from the "gente decente" to the "pelado moso"—from the washed and linen collar class down through the pinched and needy middle class to the peon dregs of Mexico's fantastic social melting pot—all these button-holed their American acquaintances right and left in the spy infested public thoroughfares, and always on every Mexican's lips was the eager, pathetic question:

"Cuando vienen los Americanos?" (When are the Americans coming?)

Of anger at the invasion of the sacred soil of Mexico—an expression beloved by the spellbinders of Carranza's following—there was nothing at all; nothing but a crazed eagerness for the Americans to come and deliver chaotic Mexico from the threatening hand of the revolutionists.

Of patriotism—of loyalty to the de facto government, or love of the country—nothing at all, either. All that died a very long time ago. It died a scant week after Carranza had sold his ragged, barefooted and filthy soldados down the Paseo de la Reforma a year ago last August, and then turned them loose among the fine houses of the capital to do what they willed—and they did it to a fare ye well, and "in the name of the nation."

The "pronunciamientos" of Carranza to Washington that all Mexico will resist to the death further invasion—an invasion of the sacred soil of the country, hears no echo anywhere in Mexico except among Carranza's own get-rich-quick blood-thirsty military "Jefes" and their civilian accomplices.

Says the Mexican, explaining his eager hope that the American army step in and straighten things out: "President Wilson got us into this mess. Now it is his duty to get us out of it—to free us from these hordes that have overrun us."

The Mexican who says that is the clean and baked Mexican still able by hook or crook to afford a laundried collar. The Mexican who grabs you by the elbow in Calle San Juan de Letran or in the Avenida and pulls you out of hearing or lurking passers by and asks with barked breath when the Americans are coming, works for a trifle a s/he deprecated peso goes nowadays and gives his family a three times daily diet of tea and biscuits. He is the most ardent of all Mexican interventionists because he has been the chief sufferer, and then along in the procession of interested questioners comes sooner or later even the pelado, the peon and he too wants to know if the report is true that the Americans are coming at last.

"Ojala" (I wish it), ejaculates the peon.

Amusements

FAUROT PICTURES TODAY.

Hamilton Revelle, the foremost romantic and dramatic star of the stage or screen, will be seen at the Faurot opera house today and tomorrow in "The Price of Malice," a five part Metro production. Barbara Tennant, the charming and talented young actress, will be featured in this notable photoplay, which is replete with big scenes produced upon an elaborate scale. Several of these scenes include the wrecking and sinking of a large yacht, in the ice floes of Labrador. Most of the players are taken off in life boats, but the two principals, Mr. Revelle and Miss Tennant, are tossed around in the ice floes until they succeed in getting aboard a small life raft.

In "The Price of Malice" there is a strong supporting cast which includes William Davidson, who played the lead in "A Yellow Streak," "Her Debt of Honor" and other recent Metro wonderplays; Helen Dunbar, whose characterizations of grand roles have won her an unique place on the screen; Frank Glendon, a young leading man; William Calhoun, Hugh Jeffrey, William Heck and other well-known players.

ORPHEUM THEATER.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer" had a long run in all the larger theaters throughout the country.

OHIO EMPLOYERS JOIN FOR SAFETY

Youngtown Leaders in Industrial Field to Form Association.

YOUNGSTOWN, April 27.—Preliminary steps have been taken here for the organization of an employers' association. The new body is being formed to afford an agency for concerted action in dealing with labor troubles. It will be similar to those already formed at Pittsburg, Buffalo and Hartford.

Representatives of interests employing more than 30,000 men are said to have affiliated themselves with the association. Those behind the new organization plan to make it include virtually all employers in the district.

President J. A. Campbell of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. today in a formal statement in reference to the purpose of the association says:

"This association will work for industrial peace and its objects are: To secure for employers and employees freedom of contact in matters of employment, irrespective of membership in this or kindred associations; to establish and to maintain an employment bureau in the interest of both employer and employee, to oppose restriction of output, sympathetic strikes and boycotts; to discountenance conditions which are not just or which will not allow a workman to earn a wage proportionate to his productive capacity; to prevent interference with those seeking work; to avert industrial disturbances; to harmonize differences between employees and employers so that justice may be done, to uphold the law."

Mr. Campbell says new business enterprises will be kept from the district on account of the high wage rate prevailing here and also that established businesses will not expand so long as this condition obtains. The steel makers declare the situation is a serious one for the future of the city.

SOLDIER OF FORTUNE KILLED.

NEW YORK, April 27.—News of the death of Captain Fritz Duquesne, of New York, arrived today in a dispatch to the Times from Buenos Ayres. It was said that Captain Duquesne was killed in a battle with Indians on the Bolivian frontier and that his expedition was looted. Captain Duquesne was known as a soldier of fortune and daring adventurer. This is the first word regarding him since he left New York in December, 1913, with a motion picture equipment to follow Colonel Theodore Roosevelt into South America. He was born in Pondoland, South Africa, 34 years ago.

Answers to Correspondents

Florence M.—If you have written a scenario for me, send it to the scenario department of the Famous Players Company, telling them you wrote it for me. Yes, a typewritten synopsis will be sufficient for you to send. I appreciate very highly your commendation.

Marie S.—It is very nice of you to plan such a pleasant surprise for your aunt, but I do not believe it would be wise to take the little girl to the studios without your aunt's consent and knowledge. Tell her what you have in mind and let her decide.

R. H.—I am always willing to profit by good advice and your is of the very best, indeed. Thank you for your letter.

Evelyn B.—I think that blue and white or rose and white are the very prettiest possible color schemes for a young girl's room. I know that rose is considered the color for a brunette, but it is very becoming to blonds as well, as very few realize.

Henriette D.—I would go to a dentist at once about my teeth. If there is anything really wrong, he will be able to cure it. It is never well to try every prescription one hears of from friends.

Rosemode L.—Thank you for your picture. Yes, Henry Walthall was often my leading man in the old Biograph days. Owen Moore played opposite me in "Miss Nell."

Mary Hickford.

Toledo Is Loser to Millers

TOLEDO, O., April 27.—Two fast double plays in tight places aided largely in the defeat for Toledo in the first game of the series with Minneapolis by the score of 3 to 1. Earl Yingling gave out only four hits and one base on balls. The locals scored their only run in the second inning, when Stovall was hit, Wood sacrificed and Bresnahan singled. The visitors tied the score in the sixth and tallied two more in the ninth. Shaw, Evans, Stovall and Wood were unable to connect in the final period. Score:

Toledo Match

TOLEDO, O., April 27.—Fight fans look for some fast work in the three ten-round bouts here tonight. Another bout on the card expected to furnish plenty of excitement is between Mickey Byrne, Cleveland bantam, and George Adams, of Chicago. Chick Hayes, Indianapolis, will mix

Here is Fred Fulton, the Rochester, Minn., heavyweight, who has staged for three fights in New York City with the intention of thus compelling Jess Willard to take him on for the championship. He looks like a champion. He is six feet four inches tall, weighs 218 pounds and has the longest reach known to the prize ring. He is built like Bob Fitzsimmons. He is going to box Al Reich, who also looks like a champion. "I'd like to manage Fulton," said Kid McCoy. "He looks good." The famous Kid called attention to the fact that Fulton is being taught the crouch which Tommy Ryan showed Jim Jeffries. "He ought to stand straight to take advantage of his great height and reach," said the Kid. Jeffries, you know, was taught the crouch by Ryan because he had a tender stomach. The mighty cave man didn't like to be hit in the stomach.

Merz Will Drive New Speed Car

INDIANAPOLIS, April 27.—Charlie Merz, Indianapolis race driver has gotten a divorce and come back into the hazardous racing sport. He will drive a Peugeot car at Indianapolis, May 30th, in the sixth annual international sweepstakes race. This car is owned by the Indianapolis Speedway Team Racing Company, said owners having a rule that married men can not drive. There is something decidedly unique about the circumstances surrounding this Peugeot car of Merz and his teammate, John Aiken. Both drivers were "raised on gasoline" at the factory where National cars are built. Both got married and were forced to quit the sport. Both are divorced and both have come back into the game after having retired. It was Merz, in 1904, who was driving in a 24-hour competition race on the one-mile dirt track at the Indiana state fair grounds, when four men sat under the speeding maple and dreamed a dream of a speed arena, which later resulted in America's first automobile race course—Indianapolis Motor Speedway. These four men are the speedway owners: C. G. Fisher, A. C. Newby, James Allison and F. H. Wheeler. At the first meeting in 1909 Merz won the ten mile race. From then on he was a spectacular figure at the Indianapolis oval; and "spectacular" is a name word to describe Merz. Many remember how one year at the wheel of a national, when something went wrong, his madly rushing car plunged headlong through the cement retaining wall and leaped like a sky rocket into the air. This accident proved fatal to Merz' mechanic but Charlie crawled out from under the upturned and demolished car without a scratch. Again, Merz electrified tens of thousands of spectators in 1913 when he kept his Stutz car in the race and finished within the money, although his machine was enveloped in roaring flames. Of all race drivers the world over Merz is probably the most calm, nervous, hill and Red Bingham, both in less and phlegmatic. He never gets featherweight class will oppose each other. F. B. Focht, clerk in a local trial racing after the 1913 race, and designed and built a cycle car. Since then he has been connected with several manufacturing concerns, in engineering departments. He is 26 years old, and has had experience in all kinds of races—track, road and hill. In 1912 he won first place in the Illinois trophy, at Elgin, Ill. The car he will drive this year at Indianapolis is reputed to be one of the finest specimens of speedsters ever built. Add to the car's inherent swiftness, Merz' nerve, ability and calmness; and you have a ready name word to describe Merz. Many money combination.

Another Bout

Gabe Glart, local heavyweight, who the first of the week was awarded the newspaper decision over Jack Geyer, at Columbus, is busy training at Ft. Jennings, where he is to meet Brockie Jones, of Pittsburgh, in a round bout tomorrow night. Three other fighters from this city will take part in the preliminary matches of the card. Jack McHenry will go eight rounds with One-Round Hogan, of Detroit, and Young Dabner will go eight rounds with Red Bingham, both in less and phlegmatic. He never gets featherweight class will oppose each other. F. B. Focht, clerk in a local trial racing after the 1913 race, and designed and built a cycle car. ## Neighbor Told Her Cure for Lumbago Rheumatism and lumbago are awful things and cause great pain and misery, but Foley Kidney Pills can rout them. Mrs. G. H. Ewald, Duncan, Minn., writes the following letter: "I was stricken down with lumbago and was unable to turn myself in bed. A neighbor brought me a half bottle of Foley Kidney Pills, and said she had been similarly afflicted and that they had helped her. So I tried them and was completely relieved by the use of two or three bottles. I have had splendid success with them and have never known them to fail. I most heartily recommend Foley Kidney Pills." Foley Kidney Pills tone up weak, inactive, sluggish kidneys, rid the body of poisons, give appetite, energy and refreshing sleep after pain. Don't neglect kidney trouble. Remove the cause with Foley Kidney Pills. R. F. VORTKAMP.

SHIFTING AUTO GEARS.

A new device that promises to be a boon to motorists is an electrical gear-shift. Instead of stepping on the clutch and pulling the lever in some tight place when he needs all his attention for the wheel, all that the driver will have to do is to push a button, if the innovation proves as successful as it promises. The push button is located on a bracket just under the wheel, where it can be reached without taking either hand from the wheel. When the button is pushed it shifts the gears automatically, using battery power. The invention is intended for use on gasoline cars.

Lake Dolan is Picturesque. Lake Dolan is a picturesque inland sea some fifteen square miles in area. It is surrounded on all sides by gentle slopes which, however, rise to respectable heights both to the north and west. The lake itself is nearly 500 feet above sea level and is interesting as marking the boundary of three kingdoms, namely, Greece, Serbia and Bulgaria.

QUERY IS, WHY DID HE TAKE THE MILK?

Frank Gully, 40, was arrested this morning when his thirst led him to take a bottle of milk and two bottles of beer from the porch of a resident of the south side. A neighbor noticed the stranger helping himself to the contents of the "wine cellar" on the back porch and notified the police. Motor Cop Thomas, who answered the call, arrested the man in the neighborhood with the stolen property in his possession. He was taken to police headquarters and a charge of vagrancy entered against his name.

WATCH FOR CANKER WORMS.

J. S. Houser, associate entomologist of the Ohio Experiment station, says that the parent moths of the canker worm have been observed in considerable numbers in some sections of the state during the last two weeks and it seems that this well known insect may do considerable harm this season. It will be remembered that the male canker worm moth is a dusky miller measuring about an inch across its spread wings and that the female is wingless, appearing somewhat like a spider. The females emerge from the ground and crawl up the tree trunks to the small twigs, where the eggs are deposited. With the expanding of the leaves, the eggs hatch and the striped measuring worms or caterpillars begin eating the foliage.

If the worms are abundant and no attempt is made to control them, the trees may be entirely defoliated. When the branches are jarred the caterpillars let themselves down by a silken thread.

The caterpillars are most easily killed when they are young, therefore it is important that the infested trees be sprayed as soon as the tiny, newly hatched larvae begin feeding, and at this time it is necessary to observe quite closely in order to find them. For control purposes use arsenate of lead paste four pounds, or arsenate of lead powder two pounds to each 50 gallons of water. Special precautions should be taken to thoroughly spray the tops of the trees, since it is there that the most severe injury is done.

Not only are apples attacked, but many of the shade trees as well. Of the latter, lindens, elm, maple, hawthorn and others suffer severely.

WALL ST. MARKET RECOVERS QUICKLY

NEW YORK, April 27.—Material recoveries from yesterday's final prices were registered at today's opening although gains were again offset by moderate losses. The familiar specialties, particularly American and Baldwin Locomotives, Crable Steel, Studebaker, and U. S. Industrial Alcohol, advanced 1 to 1½ points, and U. S. Steel, which was under restraint in the previous session also showed marked improvement. There was a broader demand for high class rails, the Pacific, Reading, Erie, Chesapeake and Ohio rising 1 to almost 2 points with further activity in Norfolk and Western. Mercantile Marine preferred was firm but the common receded a point. Bethlehem Steel fell four to 43½.

Rails assumed a more commanding position later, that group probably deriving its stimulus from Norfolk and Western's increased dividend and the more favorable outlook. Coals, particularly Erie, Reading and some minor issues, increased their advance, and New Haven gained 2 points of its recent decline. Munitions and equipments made further upward progress, despite considerable realizing and opposition from the short interests. A few inactive high-priced specialties, including the sugars and Sears-Robuck, were five to fourteen points higher. Trading broadened on the greater activity. Bonds were steady.

Care of the Feet.

This is a practical item, given by one who has endured almost endless torture as a result of tender feet and corns. To remove the corns, soak the feet in tepid water. Soap a toilet pumice and rub over the corns until the callous parts are worn off. Continue this every day until the corn disappears. Keep it soft with oil. If the corn is too sore in the beginning for this treatment, apply turpentine for several days to kill the pain. If the feet are afflicted with soft corns, powder prepared chalk, without making it too fine, and sprinkle between the toes. This does not absorb the moisture or become caked like talcum powder, and by being coarser than the powder it separates the two portions of the corn. Always use white wool in preference to cotton to place between or under the toes, because it is springy and will not harden like cotton.

Be Natural.

Holmes says that there are six people present whenever two meet in conversation—the real A, the real B, A as he sees himself, B as he sees himself, A as B sees him and B as A sees him. The remark comes back when one goes out upon the street and considers himself and the other people who pass, particularly those who seem on the slippery road to success. It is not they themselves who go by; it is what they would have other people think them. If they are young and inexperienced they must tighten up their faces with an artificial solemnity; if they are getting on in years they must affect an artificial snappiness. They wear their outward aspects like clothes. One feels like crying in the ears of young men: "Be natural. Live or die, sink or swim, survive or perish, but be yourselves."

Magnet Put to Good Use.

It is not an infrequent occurrence for steel and iron workers to get bits of metal in their eyes or hands. Previous to the installation of a magnet the only means of removal was by probing, a method which is as uncertain as it is painful. Since this machine was put in operation it is a very simple proceeding to extract such particles. The portion of the body in which the foreign particle is embedded is placed near the pole tip of the magnet, the switch is closed, and the magnet does the rest. Some remarkably small pieces have been extracted in this way. The pole piece is removable, a number of different shapes being supplied for various classes of work.

The Modern Gentleman.

With the decay of the ceremonial element in life, the gentleman has lost some of his prestige, I had nearly said some of his importance; and yet his part is the more difficult to play. It is hard to preserve the figure of a dance when so many of our partners dance at random. It is easy to be a gentleman in a very stiff society, where much of our action is prescribed; it is hard, indeed, in a very free society, where (as it seems) almost any word or act must come by inspiration. The rehearsed piece is at an end, we are now floundering through an impromptu charade.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

WHEAT STRONGER ON FOREIGN NEWS

CHICAGO, April 27.—Wheat prices developed fresh strength today influenced somewhat by a renewal of optimism as to the outcome of the crisis between Washington and Berlin. The opening, which ranged from a shade to ½ higher, with May at $1.14½ to ¾ and July at $1.15½ to ¾, was followed by a moderate setback but then another bulge. Corn hardened with wheat. Beans, however, made much of reports that the country was selling more freely than has recently been the case. After opening a shade off to ¾ @ ¼c higher, prices reacted a little, though only in a transient fashion. Only lacked support. Liquidating sales by holders of the May option continued. Speculative buying of hard put firmness into the whole provision list. Offerings of lard appeared to have dried up.

The wheat close was unsettled, ½ to ¾ net lower, with May at $1.13½ and July at $1.14½ to $1.14½. The corn close was heavy, at ¾ to ¾ net decline. The close: Wheat, May $1.13½; July $1.14½. Corn, May 76½; July 76½. Oats, May 44½; July 43. Pork, May $23.50; July $23.35. Lard, May $12.50; July $12.50. Beans, May $12.65; July $12.67.

CANNERS OF U.S. MOBILIZE FOR SEASON OF 1916

Everything is Grist, Berries, Asparagus and Salmon on List.

INDUSTRY HINDERED

Must Handle Product Soon After Gathered Because Perishable.

By Frederick J. Haskins.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27.—The American canning industry is now mobilizing for the big packing season which lasts from May until August. Plants are already at work in California, where asparagus is just at the height of its season, boats are starting for Alaska with machinery and equipment for packing salmon and large outfits are on their way toward the big agriculture sections of the country that yield plentiful supplies of berries, tomatoes and peas. The oysters and shrimp packing establishments of Baltimore and along the Mississippi river have just been closed.

Since it is necessary to can a product as soon as possible after it has been gathered, because of its rapid deterioration, the canning industry cannot establish one central branch in a large city where there is an abundant supply of labor and have the products shipped to it. Instead, it must transport its employees and equipment to the section where the product is plentiful and pack it within twenty-four hours after it has left the earth. While this factor is a source of great annoyance to the canners, it is very beneficial to the consumers, who in buying canned vegetables secure fresher products than they usually do in the city markets.

Corn, for example, deteriorates more quickly than most vegetables; hence, it is rushed through the canneries at the greatest possible speed sometimes in ton quantities. In order to get the best results, just twelve hours may elapse between the gathering of the corn and the sealing of the cans. Seed corn is grown almost entirely in Connecticut and distributed among the different sections of the country growing sweet corn for the packing industry. In the corn season, packing establishments are numerous all the way from Maine to Maryland, and west to Missouri and thence to Iowa. Pea-packing is carried on from New York south to Maryland, west to Indiana and north as far as Minnesota, while some peas are also canned in California and Colorado. Tomato-packing embraces practically the same territory.

Modern machinery has done much to facilitate the swift harvesting and canning vegetables. Peas, for example, are no longer cut by hand; instead the vines are cut with a moving machine. A special thresher removes the peas from the pods, and they are then sorted according to their size. This is done by a sorting machine, consisting of a series of cylinders having perforated sides. The first has the smallest perforators thereby admitting only the smallest peas; the second has larger perforators which let through the next in size, and so on until there are five different sizes of peas. There is no difference in the quality of the peas thus graded, since all are equally fresh from the vines, but the small, succulent variety, known as French peas, command the highest prices, while the largest peas having the greatest amount of nutriment, are most in demand.

Each vegetable requires a different type of machinery. Corn is husked, silks, cut from the cob and packed by various machines, while string beans require a separate machine for every process, from the stringing and cutting into even lengths to the final packing after they are blanched and parboiled. Tomatoes are first placed under a coring machine which removes the core neatly without breaking the fruit after which they are scalded and the skin is peeled off by another machine. More hand-labor is used in the preparation of tomatoes than in any other vegetable, but experiments are now being made with new machinery designed to eliminate as much of it as possible.

In the old days when almost the entire canning process was performed by hand, with no regard for chemical analysis, people were somewhat justified in their suspicion of everything marked canned. Then came machinery which gradually eliminated the crudities of the old system, so that canned corn became fresher than that purchased in the raw form, and canned milk a great deal cleaner than the average supply delivered in the city. But the canners soon found that they still had to do battle with the ancient prejudice against canned goods, being placed in the unenviable position of having to defend a canned commodity that was cleaner than the original product. As a result, the National Canner's Laboratory was established in Washington, which, acting in cooperation with the Bureau of Chemistry of the department of agriculture, was to make experiments and tests toward the highest possible standard of goods.

At present experiments are being made toward perfecting the canned goods container, which is very important factor in the preservation of the food. At one time the canners lost a good deal of money by reason of the fact that certain fruits and vegetables which they put up such as cherries, plums, berries, pumpkin and hominy, contained acids which had a chemical effect on tin injurious to the goods and not precisely wholesome for the consumer. Then it was discovered that by giving the can an inside coating or lacquering, baked into the tin from which it was made or sprayed inside the finished can, the quality and the purity of the food were preserved. While these enamelled containers and the can with the plain top crimped on without the solder, are great improvements over the old varieties, the latest combinations of maximum efficiency and minimum price still fail to satisfy the laboratory chemists, who are now engaged in working out an even better product.

Besides experimenting with the containers, the laboratory makes many scientific tests of the food-stuffs offering occasional suggestions to the canners as to how they might improve their output. If a packer finds that a quantity of his recently canned tomatoes are for some reason spoiling he ships a case to the laboratory, which makes a chemical analysis of the product. Within twenty-four hours the canner receives an explanation of the difficulty and the scientific remedy.

At the San Francisco fair last year the laboratory chemists who were there in charge of part of the canners' exhibit were amazed at the enormous individual interest displayed by visitors in the canning industry. Women, who were themselves experts in canning spiced fruit and making jellies, wanted to know exactly how it was done in the factories, and the men were interested in how the crops were harvested and also the salmon packing.

The canning industry, before the war approximated $157,000,000 annually, supplying one case of two dozen cans each to every three persons in the country. There were over 3,000 factories, employing nearly 50,000 people in the actual work of canning, and annually producing 14,000,000 cases of tomatoes, 13,000,000 cases of corn and about 8,000,000 cases of peas. These figures do not cover the canning of meat, which is a part of the meat packing industry.

While an embargo has been placed on most American canned goods by the European nations involved in the war, thereby closing a large and profitable market to the American canners, the consumptions has increased in this country, and an en-lively new market has opened up in China and Japan. France and Italy which are the only other great canners of the world, have ceased exporting this commodity since the war. England and Germany have small canning industries which supply a part of the home demand, and which go in for combinations as yet unknown to the American trade, such as mixed corn and tomatoes, peas and apricots. Preserved oranges and canned grape leaves are also considered great delicacies in Europe and in almost every case the fruits are heavily spiced.

While it is not likely that canned grape leaves will ever achieve any brilliant success with the American palate, canned goods in general are becoming increasingly popular. The use of machinery which eliminates all hand labor, and the National Canner's Laboratory in close affiliation with the government, have done much toward dispelling the persistent prejudice, and canned goods on the American daily menu are here to stay.

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quart of genuine Limestone Phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast.
